“ ...going with my Daddy to the A&W Root Beer Stand in Illinois where he got me a baby-sized frosted mug of root beer...going to the Peru Swimming Pool... going to Aunt Vi and Jake's lake house...all the bikes and scooters he welded together to give us the coolest little vehicles in Peru...summer vacations all over the USA...boy scouts and girl scouts in NC...when I saw him slip, then slide down Billy Culbreth's roof upside down and I thought he was going to hit the ground head first, but he flipped in mid-air and only broke his ankle - Thank you Jesus!... the best grilled cheese sandwiches in the world and home made pancakes that looked like Mickey Mouse...letting me wash the plastic dishes at the sink after mom went to bed... rubbing my face and tickling me with his whiskers after he had been on a fishing trip...seeing him at all my ballgames whether I was cheerleading or playing in the band... seeing him at all of my concerts... listening to him make a noise like a squirrel to make us laugh... watching him cut the grass year after year after year... going to Laurel Lake, White Lake and Carolina Beach...watching him use his beautiful hands to create clocks, benches and more out of cedar... and so many more beautiful memories...
